What do you look for when choosing a long-term care facility?

Once you understand your loved one's needs, you'll have a better grasp on the services that each facility offers, and you'll be better able to match up those which more closely meet your family member's clinical needs. Among these are the following considerations (Check off all those offered):

1.	Therapy Options ☐ speech ☐ physical ☐ occupational
2.	Special Services Alzheimer's Unit Hospice Care Mental Health Care Nutritional Rehabilitation Dementia Unit Chronic Care
3.	Religious Services ☐ In-House ☐ Transportation Available to Outside Services
4.	Social Activities ☐ Movies ☐ Game Nights ☐ Knitting ☐ Other Types of Recreation
5.	How are Residents Kept Physically Active?
6.	What Community Programs are offered?
7.	Is there Transportation out of Community into Town? ☐ Yes ☐ No
8.	Is there a resident advisory council? ☐ Yes ☐ No
9.	How does Your Loved One get His/Her Medication? ☐ In house pharmacy ☐ Other (Name):

There is no question that the clinical capabilities of each facility you consider should rise to the top of your decision-making criteria. That said, there are also quality-of-life considerations. These are significant, because in many ways it will be quality-of-life issues that will determine how well adjusted your loved one is in this setting. And how well adjusted she is will strongly influence her health and functionality. Here are several important factors to consider in this area:

First, while you should certainly be willing to travel within reason for the best care, remember that geography matters. If the facility is an hour away, it will be much more difficult for you to visit than if it were 15 minutes away. Look for the best care that's closest to home or work.

Second, how comfortable do you think your family member will be here? To answer this, review the following checklist. In fact, answer each of these questions immediately after you visit a facility. That way when you go to compare notes later you'll have a lot more than memory to rely on:

10. Is there an odor? ☐ Yes ☐ No
11. How is the noise? ☐ Much too loud ☐ Noticeable ☐ Quiet
12. How clean is it? □ Very Clean □ Somewhat Clean □ Uncleanly
13. Is the lighting adequate? ☐ Yes ☐ No
14. How are the visiting hours?□ Very Accommodating □ Average □ Too Limited
15. How is the temperature? ☐ Normal ☐ Too Warm ☐ Too Cold
16. How i a.	is the food? Does it comply with religious and cultural demands? ☐ Yes ☐ No
b.	Is it available at proper times during the day? ☐ Yes ☐ No
c.Is it n	utritional? □ Very Nutritious □ Average □ Not Nutritious
17. Is it safe?
a.	Are handrails located throughout the halls? ☐ Yes ☐ No
b.	Does it meet fire safety requirements? ☐ Yes ☐ No
C.	Are locks and security systems up to date? (ie; are there guards at the doors?) ☐ Yes ☐ No
d.	Are there security guards? ☐ Yes ☐ No

	e.	Are the mentally imbalanced properly separated from the general population? ☐ Yes ☐ No
	f.	Do the plumbing and electronics work? (Call buttons, elevators, outlets, TV, etc) □ Yes □ No
18.	Is it wheelchair accessible? □ Yes □ No
19.	How many beds are occupied? out of
20.	. What is the roommate situation—are there private rooms available? ☐ Yes ☐ No
21.	1. How is the atmosphere? ☐ Cheery/Pleasant ☐ Courteous, but not Friendly ☐ Cold, Clinical
22.	. How many nurses to patient/resident?
23.	3. How is the training of the nurses, aides, administration? ☐ Excellent and Ongoing ☐ Adequate ☐ Insufficient
24.		s the housekeeping? quent & Thorough
25. a		oes the staff interact with the patients? Are they attentive to patient needs and emotional well-being? ☐ Yes ☐ No
b		How is the health of the patients (bed sores, infections, weight, etc.) \square Good \square Fair \square Poor
С	.Are the	e patients properly dressed? □ Yes □ No
d		Does the staff appear happy to be there? ☐ Yes ☐ No
26.	Is the a	administration willing to sort out any problems easily? □ No
27.	In goo □ Yes	d standing with state requirements? □ No
28.	Fees a.	Are they clearly marked/laid out? ☐ Yes ☐ No
	b.	Are they competitive?

	☐ Yes ☐ No
C.	Is the Social Worker helpful understanding/utilizing Medicare? ☐ Yes ☐ No
d.	Have they dramatically increased in recent years? ☐ Yes ☐ No
е.	What, if any, insurance is accepted?
29. Wh	at happens when there becomes a financial difficulty?
	uld you want to live there?
	uld you want to live there? ′es □ No